PENNIES FOR CHARITY 2012 REPORT ON TELEMARKETING IN NEW YORK

As this report was being prepared, New York was emerging slowly from one of the worst natural disasters in United States history. Hurricane Sandy caused unprecedented damage to homes and property and disrupted countless lives. Americans responded by generously donating hundreds of millions of dollars to charities to provide relief to those in need. The extraordinary outpouring of support demonstrates that the American philanthropic spirit is alive and well, even in the aftermath of the worst economic recession in decades.

As the regulator of nonprofits in New York State, Attorney General Schneiderman has made it a priority to ensure that public confidence in the charitable sector remains high. In addition to bringing actions to stop fraudulent fundraising and working with the nonprofit sector to develop best practices for charitable fundraising, our office continues to promote transparency by shining a spotlight on how charitable funds raised from the public are spent. Through Pennies for Charity, the Attorney General's annual report on telemarketing in New York, the public can easily find out how much of their contributions is spent on telemarketers' fees and expenses and how much is left to support charitable programs and services.

The results of our report are sobering. Overall far too much money is spent on telemarketers' fees and expenses, and far too little on charity. For example, in nearly 8 out every 10 fundraising campaigns, charities retained less than 50% of the contributions raised. As telemarketing continues to be widely used by charities, greater efforts are needed to reduce amounts paid to professional fundraisers and increase amounts going to charity. It is imperative that charities negotiate the best deals possible for their organizations. Pennies for Charity shows that fundraisers can produce good results for charities, allowing charities to retain a significant percentage of total funds raised.

We urge charities to heed the advice contained in this report, and on our website, www.charitiesnys.com, and say no to bad fundraising deals. Board members should ask themselves: Why are we allowing such a high percentage of our donations to be paid to a for-profit professional fundraising company? Is that really the best we can do?

We also encourage donors to use this report, and the accompanying Pennies for Charity database on www.charitiesnys.com, to learn more about how contributions are spent. The Attorney General's Tips on Charitable Giving, which is available at http://www.charitiesnys.com/charitable_giving_new.jsp, also contains information to help contributors in selecting charities to support.

This report is based on financial reports filed by professional fundraisers for telemarketing campaigns conducted during 2011.

FINDINGS

A total of over $240 million was raised on behalf of 434 charities in 2011 in the 602 telemarketing campaigns covered in this report. This amount includes funds raised in New York and other states during fundraising campaigns conducted by telemarketers registered to solicit charitable contributions in New York.

Key findings include:

- In 78 percent, or 467, of the 602 campaigns, the charities kept less than 50 percent of the funds raised.
- In 287, or 48 percent, of the 602 campaigns, the charities retained less than 30 percent of the funds raised.
- In 76 of the 602 campaigns reflected in the report, charities actually lost money.
- In only 49 of the 602 campaigns did the charity retain at least 65 percent of the money raised, the amount deemed acceptable under the Better Business Bureau's standards for charitable organizations.
- In total, 61.47 percent, or $147,874,686 million, of the funds raised by 82 telemarketers in 2011 was paid to fundraisers for fees and/or used to cover the costs of conducting the campaigns. By comparison, charities retained 38.53 percent, or $92,681,171 million, of the total funds raised in the campaigns.

 In 76 telemarketing campaigns, the campaign apparently resulted in a loss to the charity. This can occur when the fundraising contract does not guarantee the charity a specific dollar amount or specific percentage of the gross receipts or when the contract does not hold the charity harmless for expenses/fees that exceed the gross amount contributed.*

HOW THIS REPORT WAS PREPARED

The data in this report was obtained solely from financial reports filed with the Attorney General's Charities Bureau by professional fundraisers that conducted telemarketing campaigns on behalf of charitable organizations during 2011.¹ The filings are either closing reports submitted after completion of a telemarketing campaign or interim reports submitted annually for campaigns conducted for a period longer than one year.² Each filed report is signed by both the professional fundraiser and the charitable organization it represented. All of the charities listed in this report conducted telemarketing fundraising campaigns in New York State.³ The amounts reported reflect the total amount of money solicited and are not limited to New Yorkers' contributions.

² Readers should be aware that the final figures and ratios may change when a campaign has been completed and all income and expenses are reported.

This report includes seven tables:

- Table 1 lists the charitable organizations in alphabetical order, the professional fundraisers that conducted each organization's telemarketing campaign, the geographical location of each charity, whether the filing submitted was an interim or closing report, the total amount raised in each campaign, the amount each charity retained, the amount of any uncollected pledges and the percentage of the total raised that each charity retained.
- Tables 2, 3 and 4 contain the same information as Table 1, but are organized differently. Table 2 lists the professional fundraisers first, in alphabetical order. Table 3 arranges the information in descending order by the percentage of the total amount that was retained by the charitable organizations. Table 4 arranges the information according to geographical location of the charity.⁴
- Table 5 presents, in descending order, the total amount raised by each charity in all of its 2011 campaigns, expressed as a percentage of the total amount raised.
- Table 6 aggregates the total amount that each professional fundraiser raised in its campaigns in 2011 and the total amount that was retained by its client charities. The table presents the percentage retained by the charity in descending order, starting with the fundraiser whose client charities retained the largest percentage of funds.
- Table 7 contains contact information for the professional fundraisers, as provided by them to the Charities Bureau.

³ Information for an additional 69 telemarketing campaigns conducted during 2011 had not been submitted prior to the preparation date of this report.

⁴ The areas included in each of the eight geographical areas are described below the graph labeled "Locations of Charities Conducting 2011 Telemarketing Campaigns."

Uncollected pledges to a charity are not reported as part of the total amount raised, but are reported in a separate column in each table.⁵

OTHER INFORMATION FOR CHARITIES, DONORS AND THE PUBLIC

In addition to issuing Pennies for Charity annually, the Attorney General's Charities Bureau staff works year-round to ensure that donors are protected, and that charitable assets are preserved and put to proper use.

Immediately after Hurricane Sandy, the Attorney General began gathering information from charities collecting donations from the public. As this report was being issued, the Attorney General's staff was compiling that information, including amounts raised and expended, services provided and planned, and how any surplus funds will be used. This type of transparency is important to maintain the public trust in the charitable sector. More information about fundraising for Hurricane Sandy relief is posted at www.charitiesnys.com.

Also, in conjunction with this year's Breast Cancer Awareness Month, the Attorney General's staff reviewed "pink ribbon" cause marketing campaigns conducted by companies. Cause marketing is a growing billion-dollar-a-year industry in which products for sale advertise that a purchase will trigger a contribution to a charity. To ensure that consumers know how their purchase will benefit charity and that charities receive what they have been promised, the Attorney General issued best practices for cause marketing, which have been adopted by some of the country's leading charities. The cause marketing best practices and tips for consumers and charities are posted on Charities Bureau's website at www.charitiesnys.com. The website also includes an online registry where you can find the annual financial reports of registered charities, guidance for charities, links to watchdog organizations that evaluate charities and online tutorials.

⁵ An uncollected pledge is a promised contribution that the charity has not received by the date of filing of a professional fundraiser's financial report. The charity may never receive uncollected pledges. In some campaigns, a donor may agree to pay a specified amount over a period of months or years. Reports of such campaigns will often show a large amount in the "Uncollected Pledges" column and small amounts in the "Net To Charity" and "% To Charity" columns. In each table, a $0.00 in the Uncollected Pledges column indicates that there were no uncollected pledges reported on the respective financial report or that there were no uncollected outstanding pledges as of the date on which the fundraiser filed the report.

TIPS BEFORE GIVING

If you receive a call from a telemarketer, do not feel pressured to give over the phone. You can just say no! If you choose not to hang up, you should ask the caller:

- What programs are conducted by the charity?
- How much of your donation will be used for charitable programs?
- Is the caller a paid telemarketer? (By law the caller should tell you even if you don't ask).
- How much is the telemarketer being paid and how much is the charity guaranteed?

Also, remember:

- Only give to charities with which you are familiar.
- Do not give a credit card number to an unknown caller.
- Be wary of callers who pressure you to give or say they will send someone to your house to pick up a contribution. Worthy charities should give you time to make up your mind.
- Screen calls if you wish to avoid answering calls from telemarketers.
- If you receive a call from a telemarketer or directly from a charity, you may ask to be placed on a do-not-call list of a specific charity.
- If you are suspicious of a charity or a telemarketer is abusive, send a complaint to the Attorney General's Charities Bureau. A complaint form is posted at http://www.charitiesnys.com/complaints_new.jsp.

You should also review a charity's annual reports and any information received directly from the organization before donating. Annual reports for registered charities may be obtained from the organization or the Charities Bureau.⁶ Filings received by the Charities Bureau are posted at

A REMINDER FOR CHARITIES

A charitable organization should remember that its most valuable asset is its name. An organization should not jeopardize its reputation by permitting a telemarketer to speak on its behalf without carefully reviewing how the campaign will be conducted and then monitoring the telemarketer's activities. When engaging a telemarketer, a charitable organization should:

- Review this report and previous Pennies for Charities reports.
- Ensure that the arrangement is in the best interest of the organization. It is the responsibility of the charity's officers and directors to determine that the organization's contracts are fair and reasonable, and that the charity receives all funds it is due.
 - ✓ Obtain bids from several telemarketers to maximize funds for charitable programs.
 - ✓ Speak to other charities that have used the fundraiser in the past.
 - ✓ Explore other means of raising funds that may be more lucrative.
- Review all content using the charity's name, including any telemarketing scripts.
- Monitor the campaign, and get financial reports from the fundraiser.

Charitable organizations are also encouraged to read the Charities Bureau's pamphlet, Hiring a Professional Fundraiser: What Charities Need to Know, at <http://www.charitiesnys.com/pdfs/Hiring%20a%20Professional%20Fundraiser.pdf>. An online tutorial is also available on the Charities Bureau's website at http://www.charitiesnys.com/charities_videos_new.jsp.
